

Bösendorfer

Bösendorfer ranks among the world's oldest piano manufacturer, rich in tradition and world-famous for its unmistakably inspiring sound as well as the outstanding quality of its instruments.

The selection of first-class materials and above all the extremely careful workmanship – most of which is still done by hand – distinguish each individual Bösendorfer. Our product range encompasses grand pianos in seven different sizes, from 170 to 290 cm in length, an upright “with the sound of a grand”, as well as the CEUS Reproducing system, with which you can record your playing and play it back like magic.

Yet it is not magic that makes a Bösendorfer so special. Within every Bösendorfer piano lies not only a full year's work, but also the know-how that has been passed down from one generation to the next since the company's founding in 1828. Acquiring a Bösendorfer is a lifetime dream for many people. For them, we build something very special, with devotion and professionalism: the “Bösendorfer among the grands”. © 2010 Bösendorfer (boesendorfer.com)
